

What should you do if not accepted to UF as a Freshman?

Please understand that even though you were not admitted as a freshman to the University of Florida you can still achieve your goal of obtaining your Bachelor of Science in Construction Management at the Rinker School by earning an AA degree and the prerequisite courses at another University or State/Community college then applying for transfer admission into our upper division degree program (Junior/Senior level). Please meet with the Rinker School's undergraduate advisor, Sallie Schattner, once you know you were not admitted to UF to discuss what school would be best to attend to obtain all the prerequisite coursework and assist you in the transfer application process.
